

A Hidden Gem

In the heart of Tunbridge Wells lies a hidden gem, not just in its products but in its legacy—the luxurious jewellery & arts boutique, KATA Jewellery.

A husband-and-wife team, Anton and Jennifer are the heartbeat of their small, family-run jewellery business, renowned for their finely crafted, bespoke pieces that showcase the skill, dedication, and artistry of true craftsmen.

Both Freeman of The Goldsmiths' Company—one of the most prestigious ancient guilds of London—Anton and Jennifer are a testament to the rich history and tradition behind British jewellery making. Being inducted into this guild is no small feat, and it reflects their expertise and deep-rooted passion for the craft.

Jennifer's journey into the world of fine jewellery began with a five-year apprenticeship. She was bound to a Master Jeweller through The Goldsmiths' Company, becoming part of a heritage dating back nearly 700 years. During this time she learned her craft gaining precision and deep understanding of the art. Her attention to detail is evident in every piece she creates, ensuring that each design tells a unique story.

Anton's expertise complements hers perfectly—his craftsmanship, and technique combined with Jennifer's finely tuned design vision produce jewellery that speaks volumes about skill and heritage.

"The jewellery created at KATA Jewellery is more than just a beautiful accessory—it is a piece of art, a symbol of dedication, and a legacy that has been carefully nurtured over generations"

In addition to their role as master jewellers, Anton and Jennifer are also committed to passing on their knowledge and skills. As part of their dedication to keeping the traditions of fine jewellery alive, they are currently training a new apprentice in their on-site workshop. This marks a pivotal moment in their journey, as they continue to shape the future of the craft while preserving its heritage.

The jewellery created at KATA Jewellery is more than just a beautiful accessory—it is a piece of art, a symbol of dedication, and a legacy that has been carefully nurtured over generations. Every ring, necklace, and bracelet is a reflection of a passion that transcends trends, a true celebration of craftsmanship that only time can perfect.

For Anton and Jennifer, their work is not just a business—it's a lifelong commitment to an art form that continues to shine brightly, one handmade piece at a time. ■
